Over the years, the Friends of Agua Caliente (FOAC) have mobilized public support for the preservation of the historic buildings and has assisted Pima County with Heritage funding, paved paths, and rallied support for a bond issue used to restore the Ranch House and Caretaker's cottage. FOAC continues to work closely with Pima County to preserve and maintain the contemplative nature of the park for all residents. Funds provided to FOAC are used to assist Pima County for Park improvements, FOAC operating funds to keep the Public informed on Agua Caliente Park plans and events, or as designated by the FOAC Board. This is a great opportunity to put your tax deductible money to work in your Tucson community. We appreciate your support.

Agua Caliente Park has a long and interesting history. In the 1400's, Hohokam Indians used the spring for agriculture. During the 1800's, the U.S. Army established an encampment beside the natural springs. Various owners operated Agua Caliente as a cattle ranch, hot springs resort, and fruit orchard. In 1984, Pima County purchased the property to preserve this "Oasis in the Desert" for the Tucson community.
